Excerpt: .he noticed again the sorrow in his master ! look, all his lightly joyous spirits fled. the windows of the coach open; and the prisoners, therefore, saw all that passed without. It was a scene, which contrasted cruelly with the feelings and circumstances of Vivaldi; torn as he was from her he most loved, in dreadful uncertainty as to her fate, and himself about to be brought before a tribunal, whose mysterious and terrible proceedings appalled even the bravest spirits. Altogether, this was one of the most striking examples, which the chequer work of human life could shew, or human feelings en My maestro, my dear maestro!--he said, and knew not how to finish what he wished to express. At that moment they passed the theatre of San Carlo, the doors of which were thronged with equipages, where Roman ladies, in their gala habits,...
